Dear Members of the Bar:

For 30 years, the Mobile and Baldwin Bar Associations' Bench and Bar Conference has provided quality continuing education, networking opportunities and a chance for our attendees to spend one-on-one time with Judges from across the state. We appreciate everyone's support in helping us to continue this well-respected tradition. This year's Bench and Bar Conference will be held on Friday, December 6, 2019 at the Marriott's Grand Hotel in Point Clear, Alabama.

The Committee is hard at work to ensure we provide the same excellent programing, networking and social opportunities. To change up our programming, just a little, we will end the conference with award winning humorist and political satirist, PJ O'Rourke. O'Rourke is the editor in chief of the political-economics web magazine American Consequences and H. L. Mencken Research Fellow at the Cato Institute. The Forbes Media Guide Five Hundred, 1994 states, "O'Rourke's original reporting, irreverent humor, and crackerjack writing makes for delectable reading. He never minces words or pulls his punches, whatever the subject." This will prove to be a fun time together, and we hope you and your firm will commit to be a part of this event.

To keep registration fees the same as last year, we are seeking sponsors to help us cover the cost of bringing PJ O'Rourke to the conference. Please find attached a draft agenda for Bench and Bar and sponsor levels for the conference. Someone from the Bench and Bar Committee will be in touch soon to answer any questions you may have on the enclosed information. Thank you in advance for consideration. Please help us make the 31st Annual Bench and Bar Conference the best one yet!

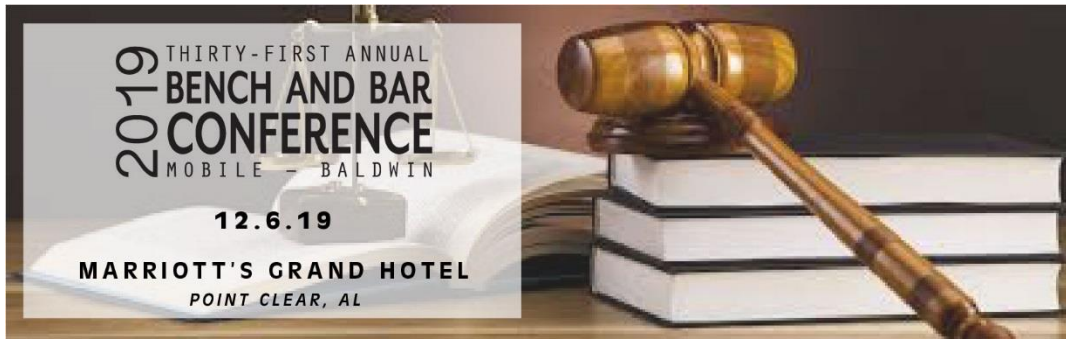

Warmest regards,
